On Way To Farm:

Eisenhower Takes Controls Of Plane

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — (INS) — President Eisenhower officially set another White House first today by flying his own plane en route from Washington to Gettysburg.

The chief executive took the controls for a few minutes on the twin engine Aerocommander on the 80 mile flight from the capital and, in addition, may have set some sort of speed record for the run.

The little plane made the trip in 24 minutes, shaving the customary flying time by three or four minutes.

Only two Presidents prior to Mr. Eisenhower, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, travelled by plane, and neither was believed to have actually taken the controls at any time.

Two Other Firsts
Previous firsts established by Mr. Eisenhower in the air included being the first President to fly in a helicopter and the first to use a small commuter-type plane.

The President took to the golf course with his son, Maj. John Eisenhower shortly after his plane landed, with the Gettysburg fire brigade standing by. It included a new $23,000 pump bearing a gleaming silver nameplate "General Ike."

Might Not Be First Time
Today was the first time that the President's pilot, Lt. Col. William Draper, has publicly disclosed that Mr. Eisenhower has done any actual flying, although White House aides smile knowingly without comment when asked whether the President has ever taken the controls before.

The President has sat at the controls of the four-engine "Columbine III" and may have flown for a few minutes on occasions. He won a pilot's license while serving in the Philippines in the mid-1930's, but it has long since lapsed.

Draper, who customarily carries a co-pilot on the Gettysburg flight, had only the President to assist him this morning.

Mr. Eisenhower plans to return to Washington either late today or early Sunday. The First Lady remained in Walter Reed Army Hospital where she is still convalescing from an August 6 operation.

Killed By Auto
WALDORF, Md. — Bradley Elmore, 30, of Elizabeth, N. J., was struck and killed by a car early today as he tried to cross U. S. 301 a mile south of Fulkner.

U. S. To Relinquish Girard Custody To Japan Monday

MAEBASHI, Japan — GI William S. Girard will be escorted to court by two majors and handed over to Japanese authorities Monday for trial on charges of fatally shooting a Japanese shell-picker.

The handover, outside Maebashi district courthouse, will be the first time custody of the 22-year-old soldier will be given to foreign authorities—a step that was fought by Girard's family and lawyers.

An Army announcement said Girard, of Ottawa, Ill., will be in U.S. custody until the moment "he is delivered to the court" about 9 a.m. and again when the first day's trial session ends about 4 p.m. The same procedure is expected to be followed on succeeding court days.

Eighteen Japanese policemen have been assigned as guards and to keep order at the court.

The Army statement gave the detailed schedule on which Girard will be driven to his trial in an Army car accompanied by his personal legal adviser, Maj. Stanley Levin of Hollywood, Calif., a second major who will act as escort officer, and an interpreter.

Compromise On Rights Bill Due To Pass

Both Parties Expect Approval In Time To Adjourn Next Friday

WASHINGTON — Congress is expected to pass a civil rights bill — the first since reconstruction days—next week as a result of a bipartisan compromise apparently acceptable to President Eisenhower.

Almost two years of legislative battling topped by 17 days of party-line deadlock culminated yesterday in announcement by congressional leaders of both parties that they have agreed on a compromise.

All said they expect Congress to approve it in time to adjourn next Friday. And the Republicans said they are confident Eisenhower will sign it.

South Not All Heard From
Southerners in the Senate, who hold the powerful filibuster weapon, have not all been heard from. However, preliminary indications were that they will vote against the revised bill but not organize a campaign to talk it to death.

The House Rules Committee which has had the bill bottled up, is expected to meet Monday or Tuesday, even if Chairman Howard Smith (D-Va.) persists in his objections, and clear the bill. House action likely will come the day after the committee acts, and Senate leaders say their branch will be only a day or so behind the House.

Preserves GOP Position
The compromise that broke the final deadlock preserves the position taken by Republicans, from Eisenhower down, that a judge must be free to try without a jury persons accused of violating court orders.

But it makes this concession to the Southerners and others who insisted on jury trials in criminal contempt cases: In a voting rights case, if a judge elects to conduct a trial without a jury and imposes a penalty greater than $300 fine or 45 days imprisonment, the defendant can demand and get a new trial before a jury.

The overall maximum penalty provided by the bill is six months' imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Three Boys Die As Den In Hay Ignites, Burns

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — Three young boys burned to death yesterday when trapped by flames in a den they had fashioned out of baled hay inside a barn near Johnstown.

The victims were Peter Nitch Jr., and his cousins, John Dalton Pebley Jr., 14, and Donald Pebley, 10. They lived on adjoining farms.

Coroner Robert H. Halverson of Somerset County said the boys were playing in a den they had built out of baled hay inside the barn. It had a tunnel-like entrance also made of baled hay.

He said the boys apparently set fire to the hay with cigarettes and were trapped inside.

A neighbor, Mrs. Margaret Siefert, said she saw the Nitch boys' sisters, Rebecca, 5, and Christine, 3, run out of the barn screaming. She then saw the smoke and flames and notified firemen.

The Nitch boy's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Geisel, was in the Nitch home. She ran to the barn and saved several head of cattle, unaware the boys were in the barn.

Found In Old Quarry
Bodies Of Three Young Sisters Buried By Dirt

By GLENN WOLF
DIXON, Ill. — Weary rescue workers digging through tons of rain-drenched clay early today lifted the mud-caked bodies of the three little Gurnsey sisters from the bottom of an abandoned quarry.

Disappearance of the girls, Nancy, 10, Ruthie, 9, and Theresa, 8, Wednesday afternoon had touched an intensive search in this community of 20,000 in the Rock River Valley.

More than 100 workmen, manning bulldozers, steam shovels and spades, unearthed the three bodies, some 35 feet below the rim of the large cliff-like pit, shortly before 3 a. m.

The grim findings climaxed nine hours of intensive digging through clay made almost glue-like by 1½ inches of rain, which had fallen throughout the afternoon and evening.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnsey, had kept an anxious sleepless vigil during the 2½-day search. But they were urged to go to their trailer home a mile away to get some rest and were not present when the dogged search ended.

Hoffa Back On Job; Hit By Probers

McClellan Calls Him 'Disgrace' To Trade Unionism; 48 Charges

WASHINGTON — James R. Hoffa was returned to his Teamsters Union duties after being denounced by a Senate prober as a "disgrace to trade unionism" and accused of 48 acts of misconduct.

The charges against Hoffa, a Teamsters vice president, were spelled out late yesterday by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee as McClellan abruptly dismissed Hoffa after four days of testimony.

Hoffa flew to his Detroit headquarters last night, and joined negotiators in a labor dispute which had tied up Detroit's three major daily newspapers for six days. Several hours afterward, the strike was reported settled.

Couldn't Remember
The dismissal from the Senate committee witness stand came after Hoffa said he could not remember whether he joined with New York racketeer Johnny Dio to enhance his own position in the union and give Dio a foothold in the Teamsters.

The cocky Midwest Teamsters boss fended off dozens of questions about his dealings with Dio by pleading:

"My best recollection is, I can't remember."

Before halting the committee session yesterday, McClellan served a new subpoena on Hoffa, saying the union boss may be called back for more questioning later. The chairman also read, in scathing tones, a statement citing specific instances of alleged misdeeds about which he said Hoffa had equivocated in his testimony.

To Succeed Beck
Hoffa is regarded as the most likely candidate to succeed Dave Beck as head of the 1½ million member Teamsters organization, the nation's largest union.

Under questioning, Hoffa acknowledged he had been wrong in associating with New York "bums and criminals" like Dio. He said if he were elected Teamsters president he would take action against racketeers the committee says have moved into Teamsters affairs in New York.

Committee counsel Robert Kennedy described that testimony as amazing, and said Hoffa knew all along about the racketeers.

Phone Strike Threat Posed
NEW YORK — Contract negotiations resume today to avert a threatened strike of 23,000 telephone equipment installers in 43 states and the District of Columbia.

The contract between the Western Electric Co., manufacturing arm of the Bell System, and the Communications Workers of America expires at midnight tomorrow.

Joseph E. Dunne, CWA national bargaining director, said after a meeting yesterday that the membership has authorized to strike by a 10 to 1 vote. Dunne added he could not estimate when a strike might occur because CWA President Joseph A. Beirne would have to set the date. The whereabouts of Beirne was not disclosed.

Dunne said the union seeks a 22 cents an hour package. He said wages now range from $1.39 to $2.38 an hour.

Catch-All Money Bill Sent To Ike

WASHINGTON — A catch-all appropriations bill carrying $1,734,011,947 — mostly for military construction projects — has been passed by Congress and sent to the White House.

The compromise measure was finally approved by both the House and the Senate yesterday.

About 1½ billion dollars of the total would go for military projects here and overseas.

Ex-Red Army Captain Held In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. — (INS) — Federal authorities in Baltimore today seized a former Red Army captain who came to the U. S. posing as a Hungarian freedom fighter.

Immigration officials described the man as "an active Hungarian Communist" who entered the country last October along with his wife, two small daughters and a sister-in-law.

He was picked up in a raid last night and held for deportation.

The man taken in custody was Jyula Paktorovich.

Family Plans Big Welcome For Balloonist

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. — (INS) — The family of space balloonist Maj. David G. Simons is preparing a rousing welcome for the now-famous Air Force officer.

His wife Mary Elizabeth and four children haven't seen him since the Fourth of July, except on TV and in the newspapers.

Mrs. Simons was one of the last persons to talk with her husband on Monday, moments before he went aloft in his balloon more than 100,000 feet.

Chinese Reds Still Hold Up Visitor Visas

HONG KONG — Thirty-six hours after being authorized to enter Red China, eligible American correspondents here today had neither Chinese visas nor revalidated passports.

The China Travel Service said the Communist foreign minister in Peking was aware that 24 reporters are being allowed by the United States to visit Red China for the first time in eight years. But the service, which handles mainland travel, said the ministry had issued no instructions yet.

The American consulate general here told newsmen they were still unable to change their passports making them "good for seven months" travel to the China mainland. He said the reason was confusion produced by applications from more than one representative of news media. The official said he was still awaiting a State Department list of individuals designated to represent the media on a permanent basis in China.

Two correspondents, Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News, and Marvin Stone, International News Service, arrived today from Tokyo and a number of others are expected Monday.

Those already here include John Roderick, Associated Press; James Burke, Time, Inc.; Tillman Durdin, New York Times, and Guy Searls, Columbia System, and Wendell Merick, United Press.

Some correspondents in other parts of the world designated to go into China messaged they are remaining at their posts until Peking grants visas.

SISTERS FOUND DEAD—These three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnsey of Dixon, Ill., were found dead early today in a cave-in in an old quarry. The sisters, left to right,

Theresa, 8, Nancy, 10, and Ruth, 9, had been missing 2½ days. Some 200 searchers had combed the area. Story at bottom of page. (AP Photofax)

He was picked up in a raid last night and held for deportation.

The man taken in custody was Jyula Paktorovich.

Wait Deportation
Paktorovich and his family were taken to New York to await deportation to Austria.

Donald T. Williams, Baltimore director of the Federal Immigration Service, said Paktorovich at one time was a captain in the Russian Army, serving as an interpreter.

Williams said that during the Hungarian revolt last October, Paktorovich took his family to Austria and then came to the U. S., posing as a freedom fighter.

Worked For Rubber Firm
Establishing himself in Baltimore, Paktorovich worked for a rubber company.

Williams said that for "security reasons" he was refusing to say whether Paktorovich had been in contact with the U. S. Communist Party or whether he took part in any subversive activities in this country.

Williams noted however that Paktorovich's past came to light through intelligence channels.

The immigration official said the Hungarian admitted being a former Russian Army officer.

Three Base Losses Run Into Millions

Greenland, Labrador, Newfoundland Charge Filed By McClellan

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon today conceded that millions of dollars worth of supplies and equipment were mishandled—and some allowed to go to waste—at air bases in Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland.

Acknowledging the accuracy of such accusations made by the Senate Investigations subcommittee, E. Perkins McGuire, assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics, said corrective action has been taken.

Pentagon investigators confirmed the charges of supply irregularities, McGuire said. He added that the inspectors general of the Army and the Air Force found that at three bases there were "large surpluses above normal supply levels, mismanagement of supply records, and improper disposal of items of surplus materials."

McClellan Aids Evidence
Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said last night a preliminary investigation made by the Investigations subcommittee had resulted in the recovery of 20 million dollars worth of excess spare parts that he said were going to waste at the air bases.

McClellan said excess supplies worth millions more are now being recovered.

McGuire dealt in a statement that a subcommittee accusation that a warrant officer at Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland buried about $33,000 worth of what the subcommittee called evidence of supply mishandling.

McGuire said personnel of an engineer battalion at Harmon buried supplies and equipment, as well as some scrap and used parts worth about $33,000. He said these have been dug up and returned to the supply system but that gear worth about $6,300 was lost in the process.

Some Shipped Back
McGuire said six million dollars worth of excess supplies had been shipped back to this country from Harmon in July, but that about 14 millions worth remained to be properly identified, crated and returned to bases in the United States.

The Pentagon's supply chief said the situation had its origin in the days following World War II. He said large quantities of parts and equipment were abandoned at the bases, then part of the Northeast Air Command. When these bases were re-established during the Korean War the old supplies

Court Acquits Col. Berger

FT. SILL, Okla. — With tears in his eyes, a 41-year-old combat veteran said "I sure feel fine" over and over again after being acquitted yesterday by a general court-martial of four charges of negligent homicide.

The eight-member court cleared Lt. Col. Walter P. Berger, Philadelphia, Pa., in connection with the deaths of four soldiers during a mock infantry attack at the Army's artillery center here June 22.

Berger also was found innocent of a charge of dereliction of duty.

The 16-year veteran asked if he had ever doubted the outcome during the two-day trial, declared "as a career officer I had nothing to live for except hope of acquittal."

Court Erases Convictions Of Seven Accused As Reds

DENVER — The conviction of seven alleged Communists has been reversed by the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals which ordered a new trial.

Herbert M. Boyle, first assistant United States Attorney, said a decision on a new trial must be made by the Justice Department in Washington.

He explained that the indictment under which the seven were tried was drawn in two parts. Two conspiracies were charged.

One charged a conspiracy under the Smith Act in organization of the Communist party in Colorado. It was this portion of the indictment that the Circuit Court ruled in validated the conviction.

The Appellate Court said that under a Supreme Court decision last June it was accepted law that the word "organize" in the Smith Act refers to adoption of the Communist party constitution in 1945.

The opinion said the charge of conspiracy to organize was invalid because the three-year statute of limitations started to run in 1945. The seven were indicted in 1954, nine years after formal organization of the Communist party.

They were convicted in May, 1955 in a federal district court trial.

Still valid, Boyle said, was the charge that the seven conspired to unlawfully overthrow the government by force and violence as speedily as circumstances might permit.

Envoy Tries To Halt Reds' Syria Drive

Veteran Diplomat Loy Henderson To Attempt Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran diplomat Loy Henderson was headed for the Middle East today to try to figure out how the United States and its friends can cope with the Communist threat in Syria.

State Department officials reportedly are convinced that Syria is not yet a Soviet satellite by any means. Although pro-Soviet army officers have dominated power, these officials believe some way may yet be found to block a complete takeover by Moscow.

Left Thursday Henderson, a top State Department troubleshooter, left Washington Thursday, but the State Department did not disclose his departure until about 24 hours later. Late yesterday, however, the department announced he was on his way to visit Turkey and probably other Middle Eastern countries.

Henderson's choice of Ankara, the Turkish capital, appeared to be much more than accidental. In that city he can confer without delay with Turkish Prime Minister Adnan Menderes, King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal of Iraq.

Scant Information The State Department gave scant information on the nature and purpose of Henderson's mission as it relates to the Syrian situation.

Press Officer Lincoln White said Henderson had been planning to visit U.S. embassies abroad for some time in connection with his duties as deputy under secretary of state for administration.

Budget Passage

Mayor Eves replied he asked during the Wednesday budget discussion for a meeting Thursday but that the council did not want it. He added he sought information and discussion.

"I understood they needed the money," Long commented. The mayor told Long he was not making an effort to throw out the budget, but just wanted to express his stand.

Saying he wanted to make "out position clear," Long commented he still said the men (councilmen) presented their cases.

"I still say it puzzles me," the mayor said, and Long added it was an "arithmetical puzzle" as the city has just so much money to work with.

At the opening of the meeting, Gibson reported that the budget was the same as when Wednesday's meeting ended, except that the Social Security fund was increased $2,000 to meet a boost of 14 per cent in payments, and the inclusion of funds to operate the Sewage Treatment plant as suggested by Finan.

An appeal for consideration on the budget for the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band was made by I. Thomas Seifert, 119 Frederick Street.

More Funds Possible Gibson said he had informed officials of the band it might be possible to provide a little more next April (the appropriation was cut from $5,310 last year to $3,000) if the city takes in any extra money.

Long said that before a tion was taken, he wanted to know if the budget included anything for the Laing Avenue storm sewer so he could inform people from his district.

$90,000 for the sewer, Buchholz said, is the No. 2 item in a proposed capital improvement bond proposal.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said this year is the second time he has asked for a fire engine, adding the pumpster it would replace was purchased second hand 22 years ago.

He was assured by Gibson that the budget includes half the cost of the new pumpster for Central and that the other half will come out of the next budget.

After some discussion on the possibility of financing the fire engine from a bond issue, Buchholz said the city will need a $1,000,000 capital improvement bond issue to keep on a par with cities of comparable size.

He recently proposed that sewer projects costing $180,835.64 and street improvements totaling $386,729 be completed during the current fiscal year.

Eventually, the school lunches

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's armed services, which already have whacked some two billion dollars out of planned expenditures this fiscal year, now are planning for tougher times ahead.

The Army got on the economy bandwagon yesterday, announcing the deactivation of an additional division, the abolition of 18 anti-aircraft battalions, a 15,000-man reduction of its civilian payroll, and closing of 14 depots, plants and facilities.

It was the last of the services to spell out its moves to help bring total military expenditures within the 38 billion dollar ceiling ordered by the administration for the current fiscal year, which began July 1.

The services now have announced a 100,000-man reduction in the total authorized strength of nearly 2,800,000. Some 53,000 civilian jobs also have been eliminated, with possibly more cuts to come.

Earlier this month, Secretary of Defense Wilson froze civilian hiring until a new civilian work force ceiling can be set. Before the first civilian cutbacks started several weeks ago, 1,160,914 were employed.

Hungarians' Pay Averages $61 Monthly

Prices Higher Than In U. S. Except Rents. Few Basic Food Items

By CARL HARTMAN BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Industrial workers in Communist Hungary are earning an average of 1,404 forints a month—just over $61 at the official rate of exchange.

Except for rents and some basic food items, prices are much higher than they are in the United States.

The government's official bulletin of statistics reports that wage averages are 17 to 25 per cent over a year ago, before last fall's revolt against Russia. Top officials have been warning that some increases granted since then have been too big and illegal, and would have to be reduced. There has been some acknowledgement in the government-run press that workers are perturbed about this.

Brings Complaints

Officials and newspapers have been complaining about the situation in the coal mining industry, Hungary's basic source of energy. Workers there now get the highest average wage—1,902 forints ($28.30) a month. Last year the average was 1,481 forints ($64.35).

In between came the revolt, and many miners took part. Strikers in the mines held out for weeks after it was put down, refusing to go back to work while the Russians remained in Hungary. Many eventually returned to their jobs, but many others fled to the West or just melted into the countryside.

Plays Big Role

Increased pay has played a big part in getting production back to normal, but the price of digging a ton of coal has increased to what the government considers an uneconomic level—228 forints or nearly $10 a ton, instead of the old 165.62 forints, about $7.

The statistical report found textile workers getting the lowest wage—an average of 1,099 forints ($47.75) a month.

HEAD'S IN TROUBLE—Manuel Moreno, 37, was jailed in San Francisco yesterday on charges he struck his wife while he was drunk. He raised a rumpus in his cell and then tried to leave through small opening used to pass food to prisoners. He gained "freedom" to his neck but couldn't get his head back. Here an unidentified man uses a hacksaw while the "freedom seeker" objects. It took an hour and a half to free Moreno. (AP Photos)

RAILS THAT NEVER RUST

Gleaming in the midday sun . . . shimmering under the moon's pale glow . . . afire with gold as the night headlights bear down . . . rails that never rust.

Rolling wheels won't let them!

Some folks wonder whether it's important to go to Church every Sunday. Why not twice a month—or now and then—or at certain special seasons?

When the wheels stop rolling: RUST! When we relax in our quest of God or interrupt our pursuit of faith, then all the destructive influences in life begin to attack the soul.

The Church helps us keep open our spiritual right of way. And not only church-worship, but personal prayer, Bible reading and family worship rightfully deserve a place on our timetable.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mitzi Gaynor Gets Plum Film Role

THE NEW MITZI GAYNOR relaxes on "Les Girls" set.

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — "Anything Goes," with Bing Crosby, and

"The Birds and The Bees," opposite George Gobel, put the trim, zippy "grown up" Mitzi Gaynor back in the bright star league in 1955 and 1956. Today she's in two unreleased films, the Joe E. Lewis film biography, "The Joker is Wild," and "Les Girls," a big MGM musical in which she's Gene Kelly's dancing partner. But most important of all, she's Nellie Forbush in "South Pacific." And how did this happen to Mitzi Gaynor, the girl most unlikely to win the year's plum movie role?

Few people in Hollywood know it, but Mitzi and Producers Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein and their music have been playing peek-a-boo with one another for some time.

Before she ever dreamed of playing Nellie, Mitzi sang "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy" in the screen test which won her first film contract.

Rodgers and Hammerstein auditioned Mitzi for the replacement role of the ingenue in "Annie Get Your Gun," but Mitzi at the last minute turned it down because her agent wanted her to be in something new.

Rodgers and Hammerstein wanted Mitzi for the role of Ado Annie, which Gloria Grahame played in the film version of "Oklahoma." But Fox refused to loan her out for the role.

Last winter Mitzi went to see Director Josh Logan about the role of the Japanese girl in "Sayonara." The first words the director of "South Pacific" said to her were:

"I presume you're interested in playing Nellie in 'South Pacific'. Can you sing?"

"Well," remembers Mitzi, "I almost fell through the floor."

She sang a couple of "South Pacific" songs and then Logan introduced her to his wife, Nedda Harrigan, with the word, "Nellie?" Nedda looked and nodded. Logan took her to Rodgers' apartment. Again Mitzi sang.

Rodgers was noncommittal except to tell Mitzi that his partner, Hammerstein, was in Australia.

By the time Hammerstein arrived in Hollywood, Mitzi was working in "The Joker is Wild," rushing to MGM for costume fittings for "Les Girls," and rehearsing with her pianist, Roger Renner, for the "South Pacific" audition.

Then came THE day in Mitzi's life.

Oscar Hammerstein would listen to her sing "Cockeyed Optimist" and "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy" in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel at 3:30 p. m. Tables and chairs were stacked in corners of the big hotel ballroom. There was only a dim light on the small stage where Mitzi stood by a piano with her accompanist.

Hammerstein, head tilted to one side and showing no emotion, sat halfway between the stage and the back of the room. Only two other persons were there—Director Logan and Mitzi's husband, who sat alone, his head in his hands, staring at the floor.

"I was praying," Jack Bean tells it now.

"And I was scared," says Mitzi. "The Mitzi Gerber popped up again for a few minutes. I had a nervous cough. I started to be funny to cover my nervousness. Then I said to myself, 'I can do this role.' The cough left me and I gave those songs everything I had."

"Mr. Hammerstein's face was expressionless. When I finished I thought maybe he would say: 'Miss Gaynor, the role of Nellie is yours.'"

But he didn't.

All he said was: "Thank you, Miss Gaynor, you've been a wonderful sport."

What did he mean? Was it good or bad for Mitzi's chances? "I just went home," Mitzi told me, "and worried." A month later Mitzi was ordered to appear in the most secret screen test ever filmed in Hollywood.

REPRIMANDED BY STUDIO — Michiko Maeda, 23-year-old Japanese actress who became a name star by posing in the nude, smiled in Tokyo as she demonstrated for photographers just how far she will lift her skirt. Earlier she was fined $1,500 and reprimanded by her studio for refusing to lift her slip higher.

For the test there was a 40-piece orchestra with Al Newman conducting; a c e cameraman Leon Shamroy, a top crew, Cinemascope film, color—and an Iron Curtain. Mitzi stepped in front of the camera as Nellie, the only test made for the role.

The test was sent to Rodgers and Hammerstein in New York. It came back.

The music was paced too slow, would Mitzi please re-record the sound track, Mitzi did.

Then it was announced that Mitzi was signed for the role of Nellie in "South Pacific," to be filmed by the same studio where she lost her job as a movie star three years ago. Today Mitzi Gaynor chuckles about working in a movie titled "There's No Business Like Show Business."

She knows there's no business like it. Especially in Hollywood.

Horace Heidt Plans Return As Performer

By CHARLES DENTON
HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — The lure of show business is powerfully magnetic.

Few who have ever felt the gratifying warmth of the spotlight on their foreheads ever can resist it.

Horace Heidt, the chief lancer of the old Musical Knights, is no exception. He has missed the blare and ballyhoo "terribly" in recent years, and like most performers who have tried to surrender themselves to the anonymity of other professions, he is coming back.

The husky former band leader and talent seeker doesn't need the money. He has spent the last seven years planting a sizeable fortune in California soil so that his four children may harvest golden grain for years to come.

One of his parcels of San Fernando Valley property alone has increased in value from $45,000 to at least $250,000 since he bought it. But Heidt has a luxury apartment development going up on the land and he is ready to turn to other things.

"I went into real estate to begin with because there isn't the security in show business that there should be," the serious, graying Heidt recalls. "That's been the big thing with me in recent years. I haven't had time for anything else, but now the apartment matter is settled and my sons, Jerry and Jack, have taken over my hotel in Palm Springs, so I'm getting ready to go back into television in a few months."

"I'd like to discover more talent," continued Heidt, who picked such performers as Art Carney, Gordon MacRae, Frankie Carle, the King Sisters, Alvino Rey, whistler Fred Lowery, Dick Contino and others out of the crowd in his hey-day.

"I'd like to do very much the same thing that I used to do with the old Musical Knights, only I'd call it 'Family Night With Horace Heidt' because that's what they need now, family-type shows."

"I actually haven't done anything about it yet, although I've had a number of people approach me."

Heidt has one stipulation about returning to the living room lenses. He doesn't want to travel around the country as he did before because, he says, "I hardly think I could stand it. I think I'd die."

What he envisions is a contestant show of the sort that proved to be Contino's ladder to fame, a show that would keep Heidt in the field of "discovering people."

"You see," he explains earnestly, "I feel that everyone has talent, but someone has to bring it out, provide instruction and believe in these people."

"There is no one I ever picked up of whom someone didn't say, 'He can't last.' Who thought when MacRae was a page boy at NBC that he'd turn out to be a great singer. I found Carney behind a soda fountain and Contino in his father's butcher shop."

Heidt did more than find talent. He also nurtured it, and without ever putting a single one of his discoveries under contract—"You can't do that. People expect you to help these people and then let them be free to do as they please."

He housed many of them at his San Fernando Valley ranch during their "years of trial, when an artist doesn't know which way to step" until the city fathers made him stop, and he instructed them in the ways of their trade.

"Oh, yes, I miss it. I miss it terribly," he sighed. "But the way I see it, we're in a period of prosperity now. When things start to tighten up a bit, television is going to need new things to satisfy the sponsors. TV with merchandising is the answer, and that's what I know best."

an unnecessary one and North and South have asked me to discuss the bidding and assess the blame for the loss.

North feels that South should have opened three spades or merely bid three spades after East's double of the three-club bid. In that case the North and South loss would have been 100 points only.

South feels that North should have let him play two spades, in which instance North and South would have shown a profit.

I have no criticism of either a one-spade or a three-spade opening with the South hand. I can't condemn his jump to four spades either, although I would have bid three spades only. South had only 11 high-card points and except for his one ace they all were represented by queens and jacks.

I also would definitely have dropped the bidding at two spades if I had held the North cards, but again I cannot condemn North. He was void in spades and it was possible that hearts or clubs would work out as a better contract. Still, when my partner rebids a suit that I am void of I always pull in my horns as far as possible.

Finally, North and South should not be too greatly upset. Move the ten of spades over to the East hand and the king of hearts over to the West hand and South will romp home with his four-spade contract.

Warners, Hawks In Deal To Film "El Paso Red"

BURBANK, Calif. — Warner Bros. has completed negotiations with Howard Hawks for the production of "El Paso Red," a big scale outdoor adventure drama with an important all-star cast. The picture will be made by Warner Bros., with Hawks producing and directing. The deal renews an association which has resulted in such outstanding productions as "Sergeant York," "To Have and Have Not," "The Big Sleep" and "Land of the Pharaohs." Filming on "El Paso Red" is slated for early fall.

TV Networks Will Expand Hoss Opera

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Television show popularity rating systems may have to switch from points to notches for the new home screen season. Notches on the six-shooters of the biggest collection of western heroes since the motion picture industry hit the box office jackpot with "The Great Train Robbery."

From every direction hoss opera stars are headed for the big fall 1957 TV roundup.

"Home on the Range" is TV's new theme song with NBC now meaning "Nothing but Cowboys." At least NBC is out in front in this department. Whether it's a boom or bust depends on audience reaction to six-gallon hats and girls in sunbonnets.

The high-rated "adult western," "Gunsmoke," set the pace in the world of purple hills and boots and saddles and now it's a wholesale western riot with NBC alone introducing six new western shows this fall.

"Wagon Train," featuring Ward Bond as Wagonmaster Seth Adams, is one slated for a Sept. 11 premiere. Bob Horton will be scouting Injuns for Bond but the special "gimmick" of "Wagon Train" is a behind-the-scenes scout signing up big-name stars for the show.

Ernest Borgnine, Michael Rennie and Shelley Winters are the stars of the first three films. Other names you hear being mentioned for the show are Bette Davis, Jimmy Stewart, Greer Garson, Ray Milland, Barbara Stanwyck and Lloyd Nolan.

"The restless gun," starring John Payne, debuts Sept. 23 with NBC's advance label of "a dramatic show which happens to be laid in the west." The show is "different," claims the network, "because Payne does not play a gun-slinger or a peace officer. He's a working cowboy who shoots at targets instead of people, and the plots will accent characterization instead of violence."

The series is based on radio's "Six Shooter," in which Jimmy Stewart once starred. Payne also will act as executive producer and will do some of the writing. All of the action takes place in the post-Civil War period.

Warming up in the NBC stable, which last season roped the Dale Robertson starrer, "Wells Fargo," are four other westerns.

The violence and rowdiness missing from "The Restless Gun" will be dishd up in "The Californians," to be produced by Lou Edelmann and Robert Sisk, the men behind "Wyatt Earp." This series will be told against the post-gold rush days of San Francisco with Adam Kennedy and Sean McClory as the costars.

Moviemen Robert Bassler, who produced such films as "The Halls of Montezuma" and "The Snake Pit," will ride herd on "The Californians," for Edelmann and Sisk in the TV rating chase.

"Pony Express" and "Union Pacific" are two other shows. True stories of the Pony Express, with James Best as a star, will be told in complete weekly stories. Best was selected because of his marksmanship—his father was a gunsmith—and his stage, movie and TV acting experience. Jeff Morrow is the star of "Union Pacific," which will show "the trials and tribulations the builders of the railroad had to overcome to unite East and West."

Another oater, "Boots and Saddles," will have to be added to the company insurance of NBC employees.

Danny Kaye Has Never Told A Joke

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — In Hollywood, where the inmates drive pink cars, wear black glasses and call each other "Darling," lanky-legged Danny Kaye stands out as a real normal guy.

Normal? Well, you be the judge!

Kaye is so normal he eats steak for breakfast, refuses to write letters, hates to see earrings on women and thinks an old golfing cap is a much more effective disguise than dark specs.

Last time we ran into this human time-bomb, he was slamming through a fast-paced routine for a movie, "Merry Andrew," over at MGM.

"Still wearing those earrings?" he snapped. "And I thought I told you that's the wrong color lipstick!"

Well it's like this I started to explain, and then, before you know it, Danny is doing the interviewing.

By this time he knows my life story so well he could write a book called, "Skeletons in the Belser Closet."

"Now," he said, "tell me where you've been and what you've been doing?"

I could see this had all the earmarks of another life yarn, so when Danny dove into the next scene I beckoned to his press agent, a slender young man named Bob McElwaine.

"Say," I said, "what do you do with a guy like that? He gets whackier every time I see him. Why can't he be normal like other people?"

"Normal?" Bob replied in a surprised tone, "why he's as normal as anybody."

"He's so normal," the P. A. went on, "that he wears T-shirts and old slacks even though he has hundreds of beautiful clothes. He even designs some of them himself."

"And he never eats regular meals. I remember once in Boston he ate nothing but spaghetti with clam sauce for six weeks and another six weeks nothing but two fried eggs and a glass of root beer for lunch. He just didn't want to bother thinking up something new to order!"

"He has a world wide reputation as a comedian," Bob continued, "but he has never told a joke either on or off stage. He says he doesn't know any."

"And he has conducted some of the world's great symphony orchestras. But he can't read a note of music. And he has racks of neckties, but they're all alike—dark knitted ones. He doesn't want to bother trying to decide which one to wear."

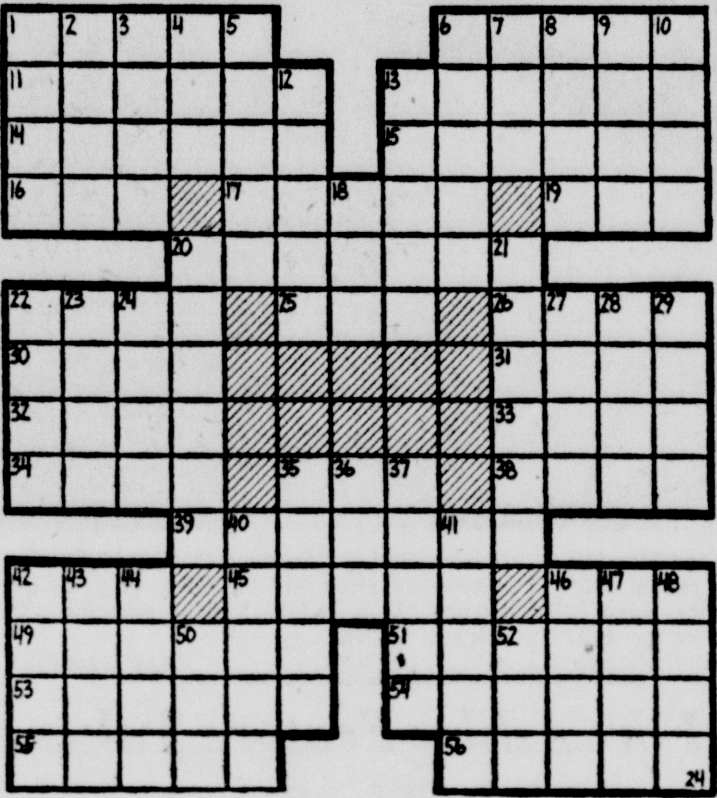

"He has never written a check in his life and never remembers to carry any money. He likes Palm Springs in the summer time and plays golf in 117-degree heat there."

"He never takes a drink except just before he goes to bed because he says the stuff puts him to sleep, he's had the same agent (Abe Lastfogel) for 15 years, the same pianist (Sam Prager) 14 years and the same wife (Sylvia Fine) 17 years."

"Normal?" Bob shouted, "I say!"

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Sunday, August 25, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Look about you, note where you could lend a helping hand quietly. Good Venus aspects favor home and family affairs, the arts, music, literature.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — A good day, with both Venus and Jupiter well aspected. Be as cheerful at home as with outsiders. Don't take on unnecessary burdens.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Don't be too hasty now. Start your day at church, then plan some rest and recreation. Listen to suggestions even though your own may eventually prove best.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — Curt emotions and strong feelings now. They can send you astray if unwisely directed. Enjoy some healthful pleasures.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo) — If you run into snags, stop sufficiently long to consider whether you are proceeding correctly, using proper methods. Spread good cheer; be your ingratiating self.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo) — Check all activities for possible flaws now. Be especially careful about taking on new responsibilities. Necessary duties should not aggravate you, however. Take all in stride, and have some fun, too.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra) — Take things in proper order as Libra innately does when not overpressed. Get spiritual strength at church, and smile right through the day.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio) — More important than business matters and financial transactions are mental and spiritual nourishment. Think of this today. Mars' position urges avoidance of anger, irritability.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — A happy outlook. Performance of generous deeds should fill your heart with joy. Important matters, outdoor activities under fine rays.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn) — A challenge to your energetic, optimistic aggressive (but fair) folks today. Just remember to keep your emotions under control, do your best and you will attain some benefits.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius) — Stimulating Uranus vibrations should make this a full, happy day. Mental and entertainment activities should prove especially enjoyable.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces) — Maintain an even balance and team skill with practical experience to smooth out any rough places, at least give you an even break for your efforts. Your best!

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with ambition, persistence, impulsiveness, friendliness, sincere love of home, and a certain sensible conservatism that can be a great asset in the pinch. You have excellent reasoning facilities, yet are likely at times to become incensed and throw tact to the winds and say or do things you wouldn't were you to stop to think. Don't overtax your energy. Don't dissipate strength; careless living can be a fault. Birthdate of James Lick, founder of the Lick Observatory; Bret Harte, author.

Jericho Brown Latest Sensation As Singer

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—If you wonder how an Elvis Presley or a Pat Boone came to their present highly profitable estate, be advised the young man voted most likely to succeed Elvis and Pat now is racing his career toward the stars. His name is Jericho Brown, he is six-foot-six, 20 years old, plays a guitar and about right there is the similarity to Elvis stops. No pelvic gyrations, no sideburns, no gold lame sports jacket and zoot-suit slacks. This lad is a college boy, partly through (a la Pat Boone), who just has signed a $100,000 a year guarantee with RKO-Unique Records, an unprecedented sum which is being guaranteed to the tall, terrific Jericho simply because RKO-Unique had to go that high to outbid the recording competition.

Jericho's name went on the Unique label contract Monday in Memphis, Tenn., where Elvis and Pat Boone and other modern musical miracles first took shape. All this week Jericho has been appearing on TV there, causing a brand of hoopla we're informed indicates nothing short of "another Presley." Investigating that claim a little, we learn the "another Presley" means only the stir caused by the handsome young giant has been Presley-like, not the gyrations behind the guitar. While Jericho can sing and whip up a storm, no one has accused him of battering the morals of youngsters, perhaps because Jericho had been studying to be a "medical missionary," and, he says, "that wouldn't be just right. I believe in excitement, but not that much excitement."

Well, should the treetop-tall Mr. Brown start whipping up excitement he has the looks, build and height to whip up more than any of his competitors at least a cyclone. A slow, drawling Southerner from the Louisiana bayou country, the huge raw-boned ex-football player (had his nose busted 15 times) won't reach voting age until next April 24. Jericho was born in Port Arthur, Texas, of Scottish-Irish parents and six months later he and his folks moved off to Lafayette, Louisiana. His mother, a high school teacher, noticed his early and avid inclination toward music and his sixth birthday presents were a guitar and a trumpet. As he grew up, plunkin' and tootin', Jericho loved his music and his playin' around the ol' swamp country catching flyin' squirrels and when his brothers Tom and John were in the mood, maybe a little alligator fightin'. Small alligators, naturally.

Jericho's been paying his tutelage through several schools, playing and singing, he's a four-start athlete at Louisiana College, excelling in football, basketball, swimming and track. He has a year to go before he graduates. When he does, if his guitar, trumpet, vocal cords and the demands of a career don't intervene, he still wants that doctor's shingle, perhaps a preacher's, too. While going to school he's done a mite of preaching, which pleased his mother and father considerably.

Income from the faculty development fund will be used to increase professors' salaries, to finance their further study, and to support publication of their research and writings.

Woodling Gangs Up On Ex-Buddies, Yanks' Lead Cut

Gene Gets Four Hits; Ted, Mickey Go Hitless

By HOWARD SIGMAND
NEW YORK — (INS) — Allow Gene Woodling to spread his batting talent among the other seven clubs and charm Mickey Mantle into a permanent slump and you have a miraculous formula for stopping a seemingly sure-fire pennant for the New York Yankees.

Woodling, who is finding it great to be an ex-Yankee, ganged up on his Bomber buddies last night and clubbed the Cleveland Indians to a 5-to-4 victory in the tenth inning. The 35-year-old outfielder, public enemy No. 1 to Casey Stengel all season, doubled home the winning run off reliever Bob Grim after the Yankees sent the game into overtime with three runs in the ninth.

Woodling hit a two-run homer and singled twice for a four-hit night that reduced the Yankees' lead over the Chicago White Sox to five and a half games when Billy Pierce pitched the Go-Goers to a four-hit, 4-to-1 win over the Boston Red Sox. It was Billy the Kid's 17th win of the season—tops in the majors.

Who's In First?

Rotary And Elks To Battle In Hot Stove League Finals

The answer to "Who's in first?" in the Hot Stove Baseball League should be known by next week at this time. Rotary Club and Elks, engaged in a controversial battle for the league pennant, are scheduled to clash next week in a best-of-three series for the playoff championship.

Rotary was the apparent first-place finisher after blanking the Elks in a 2-0 game, but the latter club protested and then wound up as a 1-0 victor after the protest was upheld.

In the semi-final playoff series this week, Rotary eliminated Kiwanis Club in two straight and the Elks nosed out B'nai B'rith, 1 to 0, last night at Penn Avenue to take the rubber game. Singles by Donnie Nave, Glenn Shipway and Charley Rice produced the last-inning run that gave the Elks the victory. Rice, who pitched a no-run, no-hit game against B'nai B'rith on Thursday hit the deciding blow last night.

Donnie Nave, who won eight and lost two during the regular season, yielded ten hits in last night's game. He fired the third strike past 16 batsmen and issued three bases on balls. Bill Colbert, who went the route for B'nai B'rith, whiffed six and gave up two passes.

B'nai B'rith enjoyed a 9-6 lead in the fourth inning when Roger Growden and Nave belted back-to-back homers to knot the score at 9-9. Growden's homer came with a mate aboard. Nave and Growden collected three hits each for the Elks. Colbert rapped three doubles in four trips and Murrell obtained two hits for the losers.

The fielding highlight was a diving catch by Billy Norris, second sacker of B'nai B'rith on a drive from Claude Comer's bat in the fifth inning.

Redlegs Blank Bucs

The Dodgers kept alive, six and a half games back and only a percentage point behind the second-place Cardinals.

Cincinnati's ten-game losing streak came to an end when Joe Nuxhall hurled the Redlegs to a 6-to-0 shutout win over the Pittsburgh Pirates. And an iron man pitching stint ended in failure for Chicago's Bob Rush when a single by Willie Mays and a double by Ray Jablonski gave the New York Giants a 3-to-2 decision over the Cubs in a 16-inning late show.

Rush absorbed his 13th loss in 17 decisions but gamely duelled four Giant hurlers in the longest individual pitching stint of the season.

Gil McDougald was the only Yankee to bat with sustaining authority. He doubled, homered and singled in his team's cause and his 12th circuit of the season launched the Yankee rally in the ninth. Dick Tomanek, fourth Tribe hurler, was the winner.

Adding to the Yankee woes was the fact that starter Bobby Shantz injured his pitching hand in the sixth when he was struck by a drive off the bat of Bobby Avila.

X-rays of the hand are scheduled for today and a preliminary exam brought a "three bruised fingers" diagnosis which could put the little lefty on the shelf for a week or ten days. A fracture would mean three weeks.

Kaline Drives In Five

Pierce was robbed of a shutout when Jackie Jensen hit his 16th homer in the fourth inning.

Kaline drove in five of Detroit's runs, knocking in two with a single in addition to his three-run homer and Maxwell's four-bagger off Pedro Ramos, raised the Washington pitcher's league record total to 38 homers allowed.

Gino Cimoli's single drove in the winning run from third after reliever Don McMahon had all-

Brave Rookie Takes Blame For 3-2 Loss

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP) — "We had the game won and I threw it away." Rookie relief pitcher Don McMahon's terse explanation of Milwaukee's 3-2 defeat by Brooklyn last night just about told the story.

Summoned from the bullpen to protect a 2-1 lead for Gene Conley in the ninth inning, the young Brooklynite heaved Junior Gilliam's high two-out chopper wildly past first base and Charley Neal raced home with the tying run. A minute later Gino Cimoli singled to center scoring Carl Furillo with the winning run.

So instead of 7½ games, the Braves still own a 6½ game lead over St. Louis, who lost to Philadelphia 3-2.

The defeat may have prevented the Braves from obtaining a possible lock on the National League pennant race but it failed to detract from Conley's superb performance. Until he faltered in the ninth, the skyscraping righthander pitched his best game of the season.

Over the first eight innings Conley allowed only four hits and no runs. He walked two and struck out five. A double by Sandy Amoros in the ninth followed by Neal's single produced Brooklyn's first run off him after 17 consecutive runless innings.

"We were lucky to win this one," admitted Dodger Manager Walt Alston afterwards. "This was the best game I've seen Conley pitch in years."

Conley, still fighting the comeback trail after a torn shoulder muscle made him practically useless most of last season, appeared pleased at the praise.

"Yes, I believe I'm finally back in the old groove. I kept getting the ball exactly where I wanted... with stuff on it, too. I know I'll be all right from now on," Conley said.

Mexican Kids Take Title On Perfect Game

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Monterrey, Mexico, yesterday became the first team outside the U.S. to win the Little League World Series by defeating La Mesa, Calif. 4-0 in a no-hit game pitched by a 12-year-old.

Angel Macias, knee-high star, thrilled the crowd of 10,000 as he pitched a perfect game, striking out 11 batters.

The Mexicans collected all their runs in the fifth inning with a combination of two singles, and a sacrifice aided by a La Mesa error and two walks.

Little Angel, who can work equally well right-or-left-handed, stuck to his right arm pitching today in turning in his spectacular performance.

Monterrey got three hits in the standard six innings.

In a consolation game Bridgeport, Conn. defeated Escanaba, Mich. 4-3.

Frederick, Washington Play Tonight

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — An underdog Frederick, Md. nine continues an uphill fight for American Legion Junior Baseball's Region 1 honors in a meeting with Gas Light Post 44 of Washington, D. C. tonight.

The Maryland champions avenged an earlier 8-4 loss to Whitesville, W. Va., by bombing the Mountain State titlists last night 14-5 and eliminating them from the lose-two-and-out competition.

That rally sent Francis Scott Key Post of Frederick into tonight's test with a 2-1 tournament record. Washington has won its two previous regional contests, and could win the title here with a victory tonight.

A Frederick triumph would make another game between the two finalists necessary at 2 p.m. (EST) tomorrow.

Shortstop Don Keller, son of former New York Yankee outfield great Charlie Keller, got five hits in six trips to the plate last night to pace the Frederick assault. He drove in two runs, scored three and stole three bases. Frederick stacked Dana Cameron and Buddy Stover for 15 hits as the winners' Tinker Michael pitched a nine-hitter.

Frederick broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the fourth. They pulled into an 8-3 lead in the seventh, featured by triples by Dick Smith and Keller.

Chisox Still Confident Of Winning Flag

CHICAGO (AP)—"It's a perfect night," said Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez, "we won and they (Yankees) lost and as I've said all along, we have a chance for the pennant."

The Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox, 4-1, last night behind Billy Pierce while the New York Yankees dropped a 5-4 decision to the Cleveland Indians. The result chopped New York's lead over the White Sox to 5½ games.

"All we need is a good winning streak," said Lopez. "Remember how we shot out in front early in the season when we won something like 13 games and lost 3. If we can do that again, we have a good chance for the pennant."

Play Yanks Next Week
Actually most of the Sox are hoping to win their next six games and they feel they can overhaul the Yankees. They play Boston today, have a doubleheader against Baltimore Sunday and then take on the Yankees for three games beginning Tuesday.

"Our pitching is shaping up," said Lopez. "Pierce looked real good out there tonight. It'd be a good time for him to get real hot and win about five in a row."

Pierce, who posted his 17th triumph against 9 losses and thus became the winning pitcher in the majors, has the same hopes.

"I don't know," said the chunky southpaw, "I just hope I can win a few in a row. Especially a couple against the Yankees. If we can do something against them in the next series, we're right in that race."

Lopez will use Dick Donovan (14-3) against Boston today and then will fire Jack Harshman (7-9) and Bob (No-Hit) Keegan (8-6) against Baltimore Sunday. That'll leave him Jim Wilson (13-8), Pierce and Donovan for the Yankees in what could appropriately be called their "last gasp" series.

Larry, Sherry Ready

"Let's say Larry Doby or Sherm Lollar get real hot," said Lopez. "I'm sure we could put together a good streak. Remember, we've played most of the season with one or the other out of the lineup."

Both Doby and Lollar, hampered by injuries, are ready to help the Sox in their final drive, but their big man could be Pierce.

Billy, who has hurled 156 complete games, said after pitching a 4-hitter last night:

"Sometimes you have it and sometimes you don't. I hope I have it now for the rest of the season or I should say against the Yankees at least two more times."

After the upcoming series against the Yankees, the Sox will play the world champions twice at New York. Asked what made him think he'd work twice more against the Yankees, Pierce laughed and said:

"I don't usually miss a series against those guys."

Woodling Bat Proves Poison To New York

By International News Service

When Gene Woodling patrolled the outfield for the New York Yankees Casey Stengel called him "Woodlin." The mildest thing Stengel calls the Cleveland Indian slugger these days is "poison."

The 35-year-old Woodling is making more than just a strong bid to become the American League's top Yankee killer.

Gene's latest mayhem against his ex-teammates occurred last night when he homered, singled twice and doubled. Ironically, his double, recorded when he tried to withdraw his bat from a Bob Grim pitch in the tenth inning, sent home the winning run as the Indians beat the Bombers, 5 to 4.

Woodling's record against the Yankees this season is strictly super-duper. The 5-foot-9, 200-pound lefty swinger's two-run homer in the first was his fifth against the Yanks (he has 14 for the season) and he has banged Stengel's pitchers for 23 hits in 62 trips for a .371 average. He has driven in 21 runs against the Yankees.

Woodling also has a hefty .333 average for the season.

The veteran flycatcher, now a dairy farmer in Ohio, his native state, got his first taste of major league baseball with Cleveland in 1943, but he didn't get into the spotlight until he landed with the Yanks in 1949. Before being sold down the stream to Baltimore in 1954 Woodling played in five World Series.

His best year was 1952 when he hit .309.

The Indians got Gene back from the Orioles in 1955 and they aren't sorry.

Orioles Capture Frostburg Opener

The Orioles will be the playoff champions of the Frostburg Little League if victorious Monday over the Lions in a game scheduled to start at 6 p. m.

The Birds opened the best-of-three series yesterday by taking a 7-1 decision behind the combined three-hit pitching of Bill Diehl and Gary Werner, the latter receiving credit for the win.

Wayne Harper started for the Lions but was derailed during a four-run rally in the first in favor of "Red" Ziller.

Gerald Gordon of the Orioles continued his hot hitting streak by collecting three safeties in as many trips. Bruce Shirey also hit safely three times and Jimmy Diehl belted a two-run homer.

One of the three hits credited to the Lions was a two-base rap by John Blank.

Lions' lineup: 000 010-1 3 2
Orioles 410 308-7 10 2

Ted Williams Now Lets Bat 'Do Talking'

By JIMMIE BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Somehow, somehow—if he keeps going—Ted Williams is going to get the only thing he wanted out of baseball this season: acceptance as a hitter. Since he walked into the Red Sox camp at Sarasota, Fla., in 1939 he has wanted this and nothing else, but he found people were more concerned with the wilder side of Williams than they were with his smooth swing.

Through the years, Williams has chopped apart American League pitching staffs, but all people seemed willing to talk of was his personal life. It enraged the big guy and he showed it in a violent series of obscene gestures and spitting at crowds.

Legends cropped up quickly, too. You were told (a) he never hit when it counted, (b) he cared about nothing but his batting average, ruining Red Sox morale while at it and (c) he never won pennants.

Duels With Mickey

But now, a 39-year-old man, he is in the middle of a hit-filled duel with Mickey Mantle for the triple crown of American League batting. He also is saying nothing to anybody. So if people are going to talk about Williams, they wind up with his showing at bat and nothing else.

For Williams, it probably is the best season irritation yet, he's ever had. Once he stumbled past his big spring blast at the politicians he feels were responsible for his being called back to service during the Korean War, Ted let his bat talk.

He always maintained he is a great hitter for a couple of basic reasons. One, he'd tell you, is that he was born with the ability. And the other is that he dedicated himself to improving his talents.

This theory is borne out probably more this year than ever before. Around him, ball players three and four years younger are starting to slide. But Ted is battling 25-year-old Mantle for the chips. How he does it is simple. Condition, for one thing. He is a bug on taking Vitamin A for his eyesight and his ideas of a diet are strict. He never, for example, eats a big meal after two in the afternoon if a night game is scheduled. And Williams off the field is a guy who either can be found doing sit-ups or squeezing muscle-building gadgets.

Talks About Mantle

In the middle of the season, a statistician went to work and came up with a table that showed Williams, the hitter over the years, had been a bit more than a handicap to the Red Sox. In some quarters, this came as a surprise. Particularly one statistic that brought out Williams' totals as a home run hitter in the clutch. This one made him to be another Ruth.

With all this around him, Williams talks of his rival, Mantle, when he does talk. It's obvious Ted is jealous of one item concerning Mickey. "He's 25," Williams keeps telling you. "He's got his whole career in front of him. I don't think anybody is going to hit 400 this year, but Mantle is going to do it some year. He's going to break Ruth's record, too. I said that last year and I'll say it now."

"A whole career," he keeps saying, "a whole career in front of him."

Ted, it seems, would like to get back a few of those years—as long as they all come out like this one. They talk of him as a hitter now. To him, that's as it always should have been.

SOUTH BRANCH WHOPPER—In recent weeks most of the big bass have been caught in Deep Creek Lake or in Lakes Koon and Gordon, but the largemouth bass pictured above was landed in the South Branch of the Potomac River. The five-pound, 22½ inch bass was hooked by Ed Snyder, Route 1, Ridgeley, on Thursday about one mile below the cable bridge in the Milleson Mill section of the river. Snyder used a catfish minnow as bait.

Brelsford Blanks Caseys As Hermans Rule City

By J. SUTER KEGG
Evening Times Sports Editor

The Queen City Brewing Company's Hermans, thanks to their great one-two pitching punch, are looking for more softball titles to go with their City League championship which they won yesterday.

Mickey Clark's Knights of Columbus team had a 3-2 edge over the Hermans during the regular season, but the Caseys proved "duck soup" for the Knights.

Hayden Phillips and Junior Brelsford in the playoff series, the Brewers winning the best-of-three, copped the opener by a 6-4 count. Phillips and Brelsford wielded the whitewash brush yesterday, allowing only four scattered hits to win 5-0 at Stitches Field.

With their backs to the walls as a result of Wednesday's loss, the Caseys went down swinging. In fact, 13 were set down on strikes as Brelsford's control was letter perfect. Only one Knight got as far as third, Junior didn't give up a single walk and in the second and fifth innings he whiffed the side.

Hermans Get 10 Hits

The Hermans, meanwhile, found the offerings of George Harris for ten safeties, two each by Bobby Goss, Frank Scarpelli and Paul Lease. Goss and Lease each had a double and Scarpelli batted in two of his team's five tallies.

Harris set down the champs in order in the second and third but he was no puzzle to them in the other four innings in which they batted.

The pattern was set in the very first inning when the Caseys' Bobby Christ and Clark went down swinging and Donnie Madden lined out to Goss in right. In the lower half of the frame, the Hermans got three hits and two runs.

Bruce Lynn, leadoff batter for the Hermans, socked a single to right and Goss, attempting to sacrifice, beat out a bunt. Rod Bredlove, who struck out in all three of his appearances, whiffed, but Lease's fly ball to left dropped off shortstop Denny Shuck's finger tips for a single to the bases.

"Woody" Woodson sent a sacrifice fly to Bob Mattingly in center and the latter made a perfect throw to the plate. Lynn scored on a close play and while catcher Donnie Farrell was complaining to umpire "Sookie" Grimes about the call, the alert Goss scooted home with the second run.

After Harris had set down seven straight batters, Woodson opened the fourth with a ground single through the middle and was sacrificed to second by Bob Shuck. He advanced to third on "Ref" Moreland's fly to right and scored on Scarpelli's first hit, a broken-bat single to left.

With one down in the fifth, Goss stroked a double to center, stole third and scored on Lease's two-bagger to left.

The Hermans threatened to stage a big inning in the sixth when the first three batters singled, but Burns was cut down at the plate, Jerry Farrell to brother Donnie, attempting to score on Moreland's single to right. Moreland went to second on the throw, took off for third when Donnie made a bad peg to second and continued homeward after Rickey Harris threw the ball wild past third.

The Caseys were held hitless until two were out in the third when Bobby Christ doubled to right, but Brelsford got out of the inning by whiffing Clark for the second time.

Madden led off the Caseys' fourth.

Floyd Bitter About Fight's 'White Hope'

SEATTLE (AP)—Twenty-four hours before his championship fight with Pete Rademacher, heavyweight king Floyd Patterson was "outspokenly bitter about what he termed the 'white hope' aspects of the bout. The Post-Intelligencer said today.

The newspaper in an article signed by sportswriter Emmette Watson said Patterson talked of the bout in an interview at his training camp near Kent the day before his knockout victory Thursday over Rademacher, the Olympic Games heavyweight king.

Patterson and most of his camp left here by train yesterday for New York and were not available for comment. Rademacher also could not be reached immediately.

Watson wrote in the article: "Speaking of the 22 Georgians who raised $250,000 guarantee to gain Rademacher his shot at the title, Patterson said:

"In New York they couldn't have raised $250 for this kind of fight. Rademacher couldn't have raised the money in any other place but Georgia, or the South. That money had to be raised some place where they don't like colored people."

"The explosive line of the interview was opened by the questioning of whether Patterson might carry Rademacher for a few rounds if he found the challenger inept and easy to beat. At first, Patterson answered in terms of boxing repeating that he would not 'underestimate' his amateur opponent.

"A few moments later, the champion said he believed the 'white hope' angle was the motivating factor behind the whole concept of the fight."

Richards Studies Shuttle System For Bird Hurlers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles, willing to try any gimmick to win a ball game, is considering a shuttle system for pitchers to combat the platoon system.

The Orioles have five men who can play first base, including the American League's fifth-leading hitter in Bob Boyd. But for the past week, pitchers George Zuverink and Ken Lehman have been taking pre-game infield practice at first base.

The relievers are two of the best in the league. Zuverink, a right-hander, has a 2.25 earned run average. Lehman, a lefty, has a 2.43 mark.

Richards' plan would be to employ both pitchers in the same game, moving them back and forth between first base and the mound depending on whether a right or left-handed batter was at the plate.

There's nothing in the rules to prevent such an exchange. In fact Richards and other managers have employed the maneuver in the past—but never for an entire game.

Venturi Pacing Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)—To hear his fellow pros tell it, San Francisco's Ken Venturi can't miss being a big winner.

He took a stride toward his second consecutive tournament victory yesterday by sweeping into the 36-hole lead of the $35,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament by one stroke. The 26-year-old auto dealer shot a 4-under par 66 for a second round total of 134, six under par.

Breathing down his neck with 135s after beating par were Bob Rosburg of San Francisco; Don Whit, another Californian from Alameda; and Canada's Al Baldie.

Then came John Cleary of Hartford, Conn., with a 136; Sam Sneed

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our relatives and friends for the kindness extended to us during the illness and following the death of our father and brother, O. A. Harrison, Westport. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

54 Plymouth Club Coupe

The former local owner of this two tone car kept it in tip-top condition with regular 1,000 mile checks. If you want a trouble-free car for that second car in the family this is it. The equipment includes large heater, defroster, electric windshield wip-

pers, signal lites, backup lites, tinted glass, radio, airfoam seats,

good tires, and the green two-tone enamel paint is A-1. The standard transmission and A-1

Budget Passage Delayed By Eves

Mayor Questions Appropriations

The Mayor and Council yesterday fixed the tax rate for 1957-58 at $1.57—a reduction of one cent—but the ordinance on appropriations was held up by the negative vote of Mayor Roy W. Eves.

As a result of the mayor's action the appropriation ordinance was delayed until Monday.

Firemen Fight 4-Hour Blaze On Mountain

Number Of Other Calls Answered By Various Companies

Firemen of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company battled a forest fire on Dan's Mountain off Winchester Road for four hours last night and were able to prevent the flames from reaching the residence of Urner G. Carl Jr., whose home is near the crest of the mountain.

Fire Chief Bruce Long said the fire company received the call about the fire at 9:15 p. m. and battled the fire until 1 a. m. At one time the fire came within 150 feet of the home.

The firemen used about 700 gallons of water from their booster tanks in fighting the fire.

Other Blazes Noted
In addition to the fire on Dan's Mountain there were a number of other blazes yesterday in which 20 acres of forest and farm land was burned over. A sawmill and sawdust incinerator were also damaged in fires.

Mrs. Glenwood Allen who lives in the Oldtown area was reported to have been burned about the hands and head while fighting a fire in the vicinity of her home.

The series of fires got out of control near Oldtown, at LaVale, and at Old Sulphur Spring Hollow on the east side of Polish Mountain.

Forestry workers were out last night fighting the smoldering embers of a fire on Polish Mountain which burned about 10 acres of woodland. Boys from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp were building a fire line around the scorched area in an effort to keep it confined.

From $400 to $500 worth of lumber and part of a sawmill owned by Victor Roland was reported destroyed in the fire which started at the sawmill about 2:15 p. m. on Polish Mountain.

Went For Logs
Roland, according to Flintstone volunteer firemen, had gone into the woods for a load of logs and upon returning found the mill and lumber in flames. He was able to save a tractor unit and part of the sawmill.

Shortly after the fire broke out forestry workers moved into the area and later were joined by the volunteers of Flintstone who had to make a return trip twice for water.

Indian pumps were used to fight the flames. At one point the forestry department's jeep equipped with a pump was trapped for a time.

Curtis Nash, one of the Flintstone volunteers at the scene, said the canvas on their truck caught fire while they were fighting the flames.

They were called into action about 3 p. m. and returned to the station at Flintstone about five hours later when the fire seemed to be under control although still smoldering.

Out Of Control
A brush fire described by an Oldtown resident as "one of the worst" in years, got out of control in that vicinity yesterday afternoon and scorched about 10 acres of land.

Fire Chief L. J. Shoemaker of District 16 said about 10 men from that company fought the fire from about 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. The blaze was located between Bear Hill Road and the Oldtown Cemetery which was threatened, as were a number of homes.

Bowman's Addition and District 16 firemen were later joined by volunteers from Paw Paw when the flames became widespread. A group of Boy Scouts of Oldtown and boys from the Green Ridge Forest Camp also fought the flames. Rakes, pitchforks and Indian pumps were used to quench the fire.

The farmland of B. L. Sisler and Clint Taylor was scorched as the flames ate their way across the fields. A barn containing a number of chicks on the Sisler property was threatened by the fire.

Supervised Fire
A supervised fire was burning in the Oldtown area and got out of control, it was reported.

LaVale Volunteer Fire Company was called to the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Company property in Narrows Park shortly before 5 p. m. yesterday after the wooden framework of the firm's sawdust incinerator burst into flames.

Fire Chief Bruce Long said sparks from the framing set fire to nearby brush and that the flames were working toward Williams Mountain when firemen arrived.

He said the fire was brought under control within an hour and after only slight damage had occurred.

Chief Long said it was believed the wooden framing ignited from the transmission of heat through asbestos boards which normally insulate the wood from the heat.

The mayor issued a statement in connection with his action. Apparently his main concerns are the failure to provide pay increases for city workers and what he terms "inconsistent" budget increases.

Budget Over Two Million
Under the levy ordinance $1,207,630 will be raised by taxes and bank stock and $798,230 by miscellaneous income for a total of $2,005,860.

The tax rate provides $124.98 for operating expenses and 32.02 cents for debt service.

On the spending side $1,663,326.75 are listed for operating expenses and $342,533.25 for debt service.

Sewer service charges of $247,500 are included in the levy, but this does not affect the tax rate. Operating costs will be paid through the service charges.

It differs from the plan hammered out at Wednesday's meeting only that the $2,000 added to Social Security is whittled off the Contingent fund, and the inclusion of $148,000 for operating the treatment plant, plus $99,500 for debt service on the $2,000,000 plant.

Sees No Alternative
Mayor Eves declared it was incumbent upon him to express by a negative vote "my sincere belief that the appropriations in this ordinance have been set up without weighing carefully enough the impact upon the city, its taxpayers, and its employees. He added:

"Being fully aware of the approaching deadline I would have refrained from so voting if such action would have placed the city in financial or legal jeopardy. In the interest of harmony, and in deference to the judgement of commissioner of the department concerned, I have at times voted contrary to my convictions, but only where less important issues were involved and where my vote, being last, would not affect the decision of the council. However, the importance of this ordinance and a feeling of responsibility to this city as its chief executive leaves me no alternative but to make it known clearly my belief that there should be a better way to distribute our limited resources to supply our unlimited needs."

"I have not been able to participate intelligently in the discussions of these budgets because the finance commissioner has not yet provided me with copies of the details of the major budgets which account for about $1,400,000 of the total.

No Wage Increase
"Our failure to provide anything for an increase in the compensation of the city employees to meet the increased cost of living is hard to understand. Another thing that puzzles me is the apparent inconsistent increases in this budget as compared to last year's actual spending, as follows:

Dept. Sts. & Pub Prop.	36%
Dept. of Police & Fire	9%
Finance Items	76%
General, all other items	13%
Engineering (Decrease)	7%
Airport (Decrease)	2.6%
City Band (Decrease)	42%

"Neither resentment at the outcome of the recent referendum which limited our taxing power, nor the misleading financial predictions which led up to it, should influence our judgment in these matters."

The mayor's negative vote automatically tabled the budget ordinance until Monday's council meeting.

Mayor Eves explained the ordinance can then be passed by three affirmative votes.

Protest Vote
He said his vote was a protest, but that he was making no effort to sabotage the budget.

He said he will vote "no" again on Monday in order to be consistent, but will vote "yes" if a third affirmative vote is needed to adopt the budget. Monday, he said, is the last day it can legally be passed.

After Mayor Eves read his statement, Finance Commissioner John J. Long asked City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson to see that Mayor Eves gets all the financial information he desires.

The finance commissioner pointed out the mayor could have had it all if he had asked for it.

Then, Long said that in the light of Mayor Eves' action, he thought "we should wait till Monday," adding he would like to go over the budget and (referring to the statement) find out what it is all about.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said the ordinance goes over automatically to Monday.

Mayor Eves added his action does not tie up the budget ordinance.

Data Presented
Long said he thought it was understood at Wednesday's meeting that the commissioners had presented their cases for their departments as funds were listed in the ordinance.

visit, swelling the amount contributed at two visits this month to 287 pints. Employees at the Pinto plant of Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory contributed 141 pints earlier in the month. The visit was the first made to the Celanese plant under the industrial plant program inaugurated in January. The next public visit is scheduled here September 9.

Obituary

ATHEY—Jesse J., 74, Oldtown, died yesterday.

AVERY—Mrs. Albert, 82, Bowling Green.

CUNNINGHAM—Mrs. Charles, 64, Mt. Savage.

DICKERHOOF—C. William, 73, of 515 Linden Street.

KELLER—Jacob E., 75, of 120 Humbird Street.

MERINELLI—Infant, city.

PICKETT—Dr. Hugh, 56, Parkersburg.

Jacob E. Keller
Jacob E. Keller, 75, of 120 Humbird Street, died this morning at his home. He had been in ill health three years.

A native of Edinburgh, Va., he was a retired grocer and a member of Calvary EUB Church.

Survivors include two sons, Harry G. and Ernest L. Keller, both of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Hobell, at home; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Crawford, Martinsburg; 12 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

The body will be at the residence after 7 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Calvary EUB Church by Rev. Raymond Campbell, pastor, and Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor of the Central Assembly of God Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Dr. Hugh Pickett
PARKERSBURG, W. Va.—Dr. Hugh Pickett, 56, executive secretary of the West Virginia Baptist Convention, died today in a hospital here.

The church leader, who resided in Parkersburg, suffered a heart attack last November.

A native of Moundsville, he was educated at the old Broadus College and the Southern Baptist Seminary. He was serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Fairmont when appointed executive secretary of the state organization of Baptists in 1940.

Surviving are his widow, a son, Hugh D. Pickett Jr. of Parkersburg; and a daughter, Mrs. Rachel Anderson of Canton, Ohio; a brother, E. H. Pickett of Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Hicks and Mrs. Earl Robinson, both of Moundsville, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Mina Brooks of Worthington, and Mrs. Callie Burke of Cumberland.

Merinelli Infant
The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Merinelli, 231 Oak Street, died this morning in Memorial Hospital five hours after birth.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham
MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Lucinda M. Cunningham, 64, wife of Charles Cunningham, of here, died last night in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

A native of Mt. Savage, she was born September 9, 1892 a daughter of the late Joseph and Virginia (Kirby) Crowe.

She was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, the Catholic Daughters of America and the Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Charles J. and James F. Cunningham, both of Butler, Pa., and John W. Cunningham, of here; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Reynolds, Cumberland, and Mrs. Mary Dorothy Rice, of here; four brothers, Walter, Charles, Joseph and John Crowe, all of here; four sisters, Mrs. William Lancaster, Mrs. June Hughes, Mrs. Pearl King and Mrs. George Burrall, all of here, and 21 grandchildren.

The body is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary D. Rice, where the rosary will be recited tomorrow at 7 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Monday at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Church by Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Fowler
Mrs. Julia F. Fowler, 643 Washington Street, was found dead yesterday at her home.

Lt. James E. Van and Officer Gordon Hite investigated after city police had received a call from two newsboys who found Mrs. Fowler lying on the floor against the front screen door.

A report of the medical examiner's office said Mrs. Fowler died of a heart attack and had been dead about 24 hours.

Mrs. Fowler was the widow of Arthur G. Fowler and was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

She is survived by a brother, Jay D. Fowler, Hopewell Junction, N. Y., and two sisters, Miss Jessie Fowler, also of Hopewell Junction, and Mrs. Walter Nelson, Binghamton, N. Y.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Jesse James Athey, 74, of Oldtown, died yesterday at Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since June 21. He had been in ill health for one year.

Four Injured In Crash At Springfield

Three teenagers were hospitalized and a fourth sustained minor injuries in a one-car accident last night at Springfield.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Miss Phyllis Bergdoll, 16, Springfield; Robert K. Wolford, 17, Points, W. Va., and Miss Ruby Largent, 19, of Levels, W. Va. Treated at the institution and released was Clayton Haines, 21, Points, owner of the vehicle.

Attaches said today all three of the patients are in "good" condition, and that X-rays will be taken.

Miss Bergdoll sustained severe back injuries and was in an unconscious condition when admitted to the hospital. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bergdoll of Springfield.

Miss Largent suffered abrasions of her knees and legs and complained of back and neck injuries. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hetzel Largent of Points.

Wolford, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Wolford, injured his back and suffered a possible fractured rib.

West Virginia State Police at Romney, who investigated, said Miss Largent was driving the vehicle and apparently lost control of the car along State Route 28 at Springfield.

Police said the car left the left side of the highway, struck an embankment and came to rest in a ditch.

Haines was thrown from the vehicle, police said, and escaped with only minor injuries.

Byrd Denies Trying To Block Tawes

Asserts He Was In Race For Governor Before His Opponent

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — H. C. Byrd, who used to be quite a football player and coach, disclaims he's in the contest for Democratic nomination for governor only to block out Millard Tawes.

Byrd moved to kill that prevailing diagnosis by issuing a statement yesterday in advance of the annual convention of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland.

He is aware, he said, of the talk "that I have come out against Millard Tawes and that I am going to cause him to lose the governorship when otherwise he could win" in 1958.

Byrd Announced First
But he said it's the other way around, if anything. "The truth is that Millard announced almost a year after I did and that he, therefore, decided to run against me."

Byrd announced a year ago last June he was going to seek the nomination for the second time. Tawes didn't announce officially until the past spring although it was a foregone conclusion for many months before.

Byrd's announcement came at the peak of the Democratic primary campaign for U. S. Senate between George P. Mahoney and Millard Tydings. Byrd was in the Tydings camp and Tawes in Mahoney's.

Byrd said he knows some people thought he was making the statement primarily to help Tydings and "because Millard Tawes was said to be making statements on the Eastern Shore that a vote for George would really be a vote for him, Millard, for governor."

It Wasn't So
Byrd said this wasn't so. "What I said at the time was meant at its face value because I wanted the people of the Eastern Shore to know my intentions."

At the same time, Byrd noted that "only two of the nine (Eastern Shore) counties went for Mahoney and one of them went that way because of a purely local situation and not because of efforts on the part of either Tawes or Mahoney."

Byrd won six counties against Mahoney to win the Democratic nomination for governor in 1954 and the same number in losing the general election to Gov. McKeldin.

Helped In Some Ways
Byrd's alleged cooling off toward Tawes is supposed to have started in that campaign. Tawes, according to the political gossip, didn't give Byrd all-out support because he had planned to seek the nomination himself.

Byrd confirmed this partly. He said Tawes helped "in some ways," but "there were other matters" in which he "did nothing."

For this reason, Byrd's announced candidacy in the face of Tawes' well known intentions to run next year was greeted by politicians as motivated by pique.

The theory was that Byrd hoped to take away from Tawes enough votes, particularly among Eastern Shore counties, to open the way for a third candidate to win.

Among these potential "third candidates" also attending the women's convention today and tomorrow is Mayor Thomas D'Allesandro of Baltimore.

Winners Selected
Harry J. Barton, general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, last night named winners of cash awards in the commercial exhibits at the Fair.

First prize went to George F. Warner, Virginia Avenue, for his upholstery shop display. Second award winner is the RTS Appliance Store of Frostburg. Third award went to the Pen Mar Gas Company, and fourth place winner is Sterling Electric Company, North Centre Street.

According to Raymond J. Smith, governor, the picnic is open to all members and their families, and to members of the Women of the Moose and their families. It will be a basket picnic but the lodge will provide corn on the cob, ice cream, soft drinks and other refreshments. Games and contests will be held, with prizes for the winners.

Russell L. Minnick will be in charge of games and contests, while Senior Regent Marjorie Mulligan will head a committee from the Women of the Moose to assist the lodge committeemen with refreshments and other details.

Lodge committeemen include James Mulligan, Donald Lilya, Thomas Head, Gerald B. Young, Frank Trozzo, Joseph McFarland, Harley Payne, George Thomas, Edward Habeeb, William Carroll, Donald Young and William Winters.

Admission to men and women of the Moose will be by dues receipt.

County Issues Man Permit For Dwelling
The Allegany County Assessing Department has issued a permit to Victor E. Grove, RD 6, Bowling Green, to build a frame dwelling at an estimated cost of $15,000.

Measuring 25 feet by 49 feet the home will include five rooms and bath. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof and will also have a cellar. Completion date is expected sometime in January of next year.

Three Injured In Accidents
Memorial Hospital had a rush business yesterday evening with three local persons being admitted following home accidents.

Mrs. Irene Duvall, 66, of 813 Sunbury Avenue, was admitted after falling down a flight of steps at her home.

She is reported in "good" condition with an injury to her left hip. She is the wife of Frank L. Duvall.

David Wilson, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wilson, 113 Mary Street, was admitted to the institution after fracturing his right arm in a fall at home.

Mrs. Irene Matthews, 80, wife of Thomas Matthews, 22 Wallace Street, was admitted to the hospital after sustaining a hip injury in a fall at her home. Her condition today is reported "good."

NEW TEACHER—Miss Dolores Laraine Fahey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fahey, 1411 Olive Avenue, has been appointed to an elementary teaching position in Ann Arundel County. She was graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College last June. She is also a graduate of Fort Hill High School.

Collection Service
Conlon also said that residents in other sections of LaVale will continue to receive service as before with mail placed in boxes along streets.

The residents in the section having foot service will also receive collection service from their own mail boxes as well as boxes placed at various points in the area.

Meanwhile, Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant postmaster, said residents living in Bowling Green and Potomac Park as well as similar suburban areas where streets have been named and house numbers designated should use these numbers and street names to facilitate the delivery of mail.

Used Route Number
For many years the residents in these sections had simply a route number, but the suburban areas have grown rapidly in recent years and the use of street and house numbers on letters and parcels will be of great help to both the postal workers as well as the residents.

Many residents of these areas have been cooperating in this program in recent weeks and this has helped mail service. The use of such street and house numbers pin-points the place where the mail is to be delivered and aids postal workers who formerly had only a route number which often encompassed a large area.

Man Treated For Wound
A 22-year-old Western man is reported in "fair" condition at Memorial Hospital after undergoing surgery last night for removal of a bullet.

Hospital attaches said Lowell Michael, of 101 Poplar Street, was admitted to the institution after being injured with a bullet from a .22 calibre target pistol.

Tic. Milton Hart and Officer Albert W. Bernard of the Westernport Police, who investigated, said Michael apparently shot himself in the kitchen of his parents' home on Poplar Street.

Police said they received a call at 10:45 p. m., and upon arrival at the Michael home found the young man on the kitchen floor. The bullet struck him in the lower part of his body, police said.

Michael, an employee of the Street Department of Westernport, resides at his parents' home with his wife.

Police said the man was in a state of shock when they arrived and that they have been unable to question him concerning the shooting.

Board Refuses Beer Permit
The application of Hallie E. Buster for a Class D beer permit for premises located on the Oldtown Road, 10 miles east of Cumberland, has been rejected.

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners rejected the application on the grounds that the premises was not located where there were 500 bona fide residents living within a radius of one mile.

Officials of the board noted that there had been a beer license for the premises until several months ago and for many years previously. The provisions of the law pertaining to the 500 residents within a radius of one mile was enacted after the original licenses had been granted.

In cases where such premises come under the population requirements and the license is given up then no further license will be granted, according to the board. The effect of the provision was not retroactive.
